

Commercial Pilot Training at Aviation Sales

Aviation Sales, Inc. offers the Commercial Pilot Certification Course for those students interested in a career in aviation. The course is offered by itself for those students with a private pilot certificate or combined with the private pilot for those students starting from zero time. For those students starting with some time already logged, the chief instructor will tailor the course specifically to your needs. The course is offered under Federal Aviation Regulation Part 61.

The Commercial Pilot Certification Course consists of both flight and ground instruction. The flight portion is broken down into seven segments. The first four segments are the Instrument Rating Course, the fifth segment is a review of cross country procedures and night time, the sixth introduces complex airplanes and the procedures associated with those airplanes. The seventh and final segment reviews all the previous knowledge and provides additional practice time.

The ground portion reviews all the previous private pilot knowledge and introduces both instrument subject matter and commercial subject matter. As with the previous courses, the knowledge obtained is more than enough to pass the commercial pilot knowledge exam.

Please contact Bill Kronenberger for commercial pilot course pricing.
